Dear Hiring Team,

I am writing to apply for the Data Collection Driver position at Distance Technologies. I was interested in this role because it combines driving with my IT and technical support background and gives me the opportunity to work with technology in a practical environment.

I have over eight years of experience in IT support, working with computers, hardware, software, networks and end-user devices. In my previous roles, I regularly troubleshoot issues related to Wi-Fi, cables, USB devices, computers and network connectivity. I am comfortable following technical instructions, checking equipment, documenting issues and solving problems independently.

I also have a valid Category B driving licence and regular driving experience in Finland. I am comfortable driving in different road and weather conditions and understand the importance of careful and responsible driving, especially when working with equipment.

What interests me most about this position is the combination of technology, driving and real-world data collection. I would enjoy working with cameras, sensors and other equipment while supporting the engineering team. My IT background has also taught me to pay attention to details and stay calm when troubleshooting something that is not working as expected.

I am currently based in Lappeenranta and available to start immediately. I am comfortable working independently and with flexible schedules when required.

Thank you for considering my application. I would be happy to discuss my experience and the role further in an interview.

Kind regards,
